A reservation had been made for Mrs. Rich to travel by plane to Washington, D.C. on American Airlines Flight 1355, leaving Logan International Airport at 6:00 PM and arriving in Washington, D.C. at 7:38 PM on June 1, 1964. Round-trip Ticket No. 184888 was purchased with GTR No. A4344663, issued at Washington, D.C., authorized by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

A summary report of Special Agent Milton's impression of Mrs. Rich from conversation with her between 4:00 PM and the time she boarded the plane at approximately 5:45 PM on June 1, is as follows:

Mrs. Rich volunteered the information that she was of Iraqi descent, born in Biddeford, Maine and raised by German foster-parents; her first husband, Mr. Perrin, was a magazine writer; she was the mother of four children - three of whom lived with her and the fourth she did not elaborate on; she claimed to have lived and worked in California, Mexico and New Orleans and to have been a translator for Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia when he was in the United States and that she liked Prince Mansour and did not like Faisal in his brother Tamilt that she worked as an "undercover operative" for various district attorneys and the FBI in various places in the United States; that she was nervous and it was a change for her to be a housewife instead of an undercover operative; that she was a member of CORE; that she could speak five languages, including two dialects of Arabic.

Mrs. Rich mentioned her present husband casually and said he was "a little old" for her. She talked generally about police brutality in the South and about civil rights.

According to Special Agent Milton, Mrs. Rich appeared to be a very nervous woman. She talked rapidly but intelligently and seemed to have strong feelings on any subject she discussed. She has highly-developed facial tics - such as making faces with her mouth and a spastic contraction of the right eye. She is possibly a mental case and definitely a very nervous person. She told many stories about doing undercover work and working on counterfeiting cases which appeared to be obvious fabrications.

HANNAH KLAMPS FERMIN was interviewed at the Oakland Police Department by Edward W. Davis, Detective, on September 9, 1935, under the name BARBARA JUAN SALVADOR, but had been known as HANNAH KLMPS since she was adopted by a family named MATHFORD.

She stated she married CHARLES GLENN WILSON in 1935, after she divorced in 1925. In 1926 she attempted suicide by swallowing a massive dose of aspirin, after which she voluntarily committed herself to the Psychiatric Ward, Northampton, Massachusetts, State Hospital, but was discharged after ten days observation. She stated she married LOUIS S. NURSEHOLM in 1935, but separated from him after eight months because he was confined during most of that period to the psychiatric wards of several Air Force hospitals. She stated she divorced NURSEHOLM by Mexican divorce at Juarez, Mexico, in 1939 and TONY FERMIN (now deceased) the next day at Juarez. From Juarez she and her husband moved to Colorado Springs and later to Denver, Colorado, arriving at Denver in approximately 1960. She stated at this time she began work as a prostitute.

During this period of time she met and acted as "hostess" for men whom she described as belonging to the "syndicate." By "syndicate," she stated she meant the Italian Mafia organization headed by VITO GAMBINO of Italy and that she had learned this from entertaining these "syndicate" men, one of whom she stated was known as "FEDERAL SIGHTS" MATHUR (P), She described him as a "syndicate" man from New York who was then living in Denver. She stated she did not know names of other "syndicate" men she had entertained.

She stated that in the latter part of 1950 she moved to Boston, Massachusetts, and later to New Hampshire, where she was employed lobbying for bills for the liquor industry and working with the Labor Committee of the New Hampshire State Legislature and she stated that it was her job to persuade legislators to vote for certain bills. She stated at this time her husband, ROHFR, left her and that in looking for him she got information that he might have gone to Dallas, so she made a long distance telephone call from Boston to Dallas sometime in 1961 and that she spoke with Dallas Police Officer J. D. ZEPFORD.

Sometime following the termination of her employment with RURY, and she states she cannot be sure if it was whole she was working for JAPKIND or if it was while she was ill, that one "DICK C.," a bartender at the University Club, who was one of her contacts and would arrange prostitution dates for her, arranged for her and her husband to meet with an Army Colonel in connection with taking Cuban refugees from Cuba to Miami. She said that "DICK C." (she qualified by saying she was almost certain it was DICK C. and would almost swear to this) took her and her husband to meet this Colonel at his apartment, address unknown. She said the Colonel was in an Army uniform and that they went to his apartment to discuss this proposition. At this time it was proposed that her husband pilot a boat to Cuba and pick up Cuban refugees and return them to Miami. She thought it was an old Coast Guard cutter and that her husband was to receive $20,000 for this. She said she only vaguely recalled the Colonel. He was about 40 to 50 years old, short, and bald, but that she was confused in her mind as to his appearance and that she would not know him if she saw him again. She said that all boat was settled at this meeting that they indicated they were interested and agreed to attend the next meeting. She said during the conversation some reference was made to Enfield rifles, but that she was not clear at that time what this meant.

She reiterated that she was not working for RURY at the time this meeting occurred.

With regard to the second meeting she said she could not recall when it occurred time-wise, but was probably within the next ten days, that it was at the same place about 7:30 p.m. or 8 p.m. She said she and her husband went and that about eight to twelve people were there and JACK RURY walked in. Peterson stated, she said, were herself, her husband "DICK C.,” the Colonel, a big, gregarious person who looked like an ex-fighter named PATX, an elderly woman, and three or four others were there. She said at this meeting there was a discussion as to how to get the refugees into Miami, what buy in Cuba to pick them up at, and there was also mention of military equipment and

Enfield rifles which were going to be delivered to CASTRO. She said when she heard this she did not want any part of it, since she was loyal to the United States and opposed to communism. At this point RURY made a speech, placing on the table, getting red in the face, but she could not recall exactly what he said. She said she was under the impression that RURY was furnishing the wrong but that it was not his money. She said that at this meeting she quarreled with RURY over this point, but nevertheless agreed to attend one more meeting with regard to getting the refugees out of Cuba.

She said the third meeting happened about two days later and at this time only six or seven people were present; the Colonel, herself, her husband, the elderly woman, RURY, and one or two persons who were not at the prior meeting. She said RURY only stayed fifteen to twenty minutes. They discussed the fact that the Colonel had the rifles and military equipment and at that point she said she wanted nothing more to do with it and she and her husband left. She said she attended no more meetings and that she was dead sure she had been to only three meetings.

She said that this third meeting happened about two days after an individual known as NICK, supposedly from Chicago, came into the Carousel Club, where she was working and contacted RURY and that she had been caught by RURY listening at the key-hole and that this was what caused the quarrel resulting in her discharge at the club. (This is in conflict with her prior statement that all meetings occurred after she resigned from the Carousel Club.)

She stated she knew nothing more concerning the plans for getting the area to Cuba or the Cuban refugee matter.

She said that during her employment at the Carousel Club one day ROSS MARCHES, who she had known in Denver walked into the club to see RURY. She described him as a big, fat, sloppy fellow. She said that during her association with him in Denver he had taught her how to deal and signal in card games and that while he was in Dallas he set up a card game at one of the 'Tang' hotels on Commerce Street with two businessmen and another call girl named KELEN and that she was paid $600 for this and that the two businessmen lost substantial money. She said the agreement was that she got 45 per cent of the take. She said "TIGHTY" MANSELL remained in Dallas three to four days. She was taken to one of the two businessmen with whom she played cards and that they were two Dallas executives, one a manufacturer of ready-to-wear and the other an executive of a steel manufacturing company. She also stated that "TIGHTY" suggested that she leave Dallas and go to Las Vegas and obtain a job with LEO BRAZIL, a dealer at the Silver Slipper in Las Vegas, and she exhibited a calling card of BRAZIL.

She stated that while residing in Dallas she was arrested twice for prostitution, but the charges were reduced to vagrancy. She also stated that she had been arrested in Denver in 1960 for carrying a concealed weapon and received a $2 fine and in Boston in 1960 or 1961, for prostitution, receiving a $200 fine.

She has previously furnished information concerning the subject.

HOLD MARX. She said he is the owner or the brother of the owner of the Little Hero Club, de Bolivar, East St. Louis, and the owner of a race horse stable. She described him as a white, male, 40 years of age, 5'9", medium build, dark complexion, black hair and Italian appearance. She states she has no information concerning OSMUND, nor even knew OSMUND or met him and did not hear from a friend mentioned OSMUND. She also states that entertainer TRACY KING knew HUNY, that she thinks KING had "something on HUNY" but she could not elaborate on this.

She claimed also acquaintance with Mrs. JAMES L. KENNEDY prior to his marriage and claimed she knew and had danced with Senator EDWARD KENNEDY during his attendance at Harvard.

In addition to the information contained in the above statement, PERRIN furnished two telephone numbers from her address book, which she said are numbers in Dallas. She cannot remember who they belong to and said they might be legitimate businessmen or they could be numbers of persons who could shed some light on RUBY's activities. These numbers are SI 8-1715 and TA 7-1726.

PERRIN said her deceased husband, ROBERT PERRIN, was also known as JACK STAR in his auto thrill show, "Jack Star's Spills and Chills." He also worked at Sitton's Auto Center, 1629 East Main, Grand Prairie, Texas, telephone AN 2-1631, which NANCY PERRIN believes is an automobile business now.

NANCY PERRIN advised DICK, last name beginning with C, home phone TA 4-9856, is a bartender at the University Club on Commerce Street, Dallas. She said DICK C. was her contact in "call girl operation" and was the one who took her and her husband to the Cuban guaranair meeting the first time, and DICK C. was present at second meeting when RUBY also attended.

NANCY PERRIN, who also resided at 3803 Junius, Dallas, Texas, had a Dallas Public Library card, expiration date September 15, 1964, with reference P. T. RAYBURN, 6235 Saratoga, Dallas. RAYBURN is a Dallas police officer and has telephone number TA 7-6538. PERRIN said she also had lived at Live Oak in Dallas, exact address not now recalled.
